

For immediate release on 09.03.22

OnTheMarket becomes Principal Partner of EA Masters and Best Estate Agent Guide

We're delighted and proud to announce we've entered into a long-term agreement with Estate Agency Events to be the Principal Partner of the leading event and awards in our industry, the EA Masters and Best Estate Agent Guide and Awards.

From the outset of our discussions, it was clear that we share the same values and goals to improve business performance and raise service standards in the property industry, help sellers and landlords find the best agents, and help agents promote their success. As the agents' portal, our aims are perfectly aligned.

Our partnership will see us working together to build on the considerable reputation both EA Masters and Best Estate Agent Guide have earned. In line with us becoming the new Principal Partner, we're also very keen to provide our member agents with special benefits, including preferential rates to attend this prestigious event, to support them in learning from some of the best business brains in the world as well as leaders and legends of the industry.

The EA Masters will be held on Wednesday 21st September at Evolution London in Battersea Park where Jason Tebb, Chief Executive Officer of OnTheMarket will be joining the many world-class speakers who'll be in attendance to deliver a talk.

We're very much looking forward to the event and continuing our relationship with Estate Agency Events in the future.